Knox Memorial Gymnasium

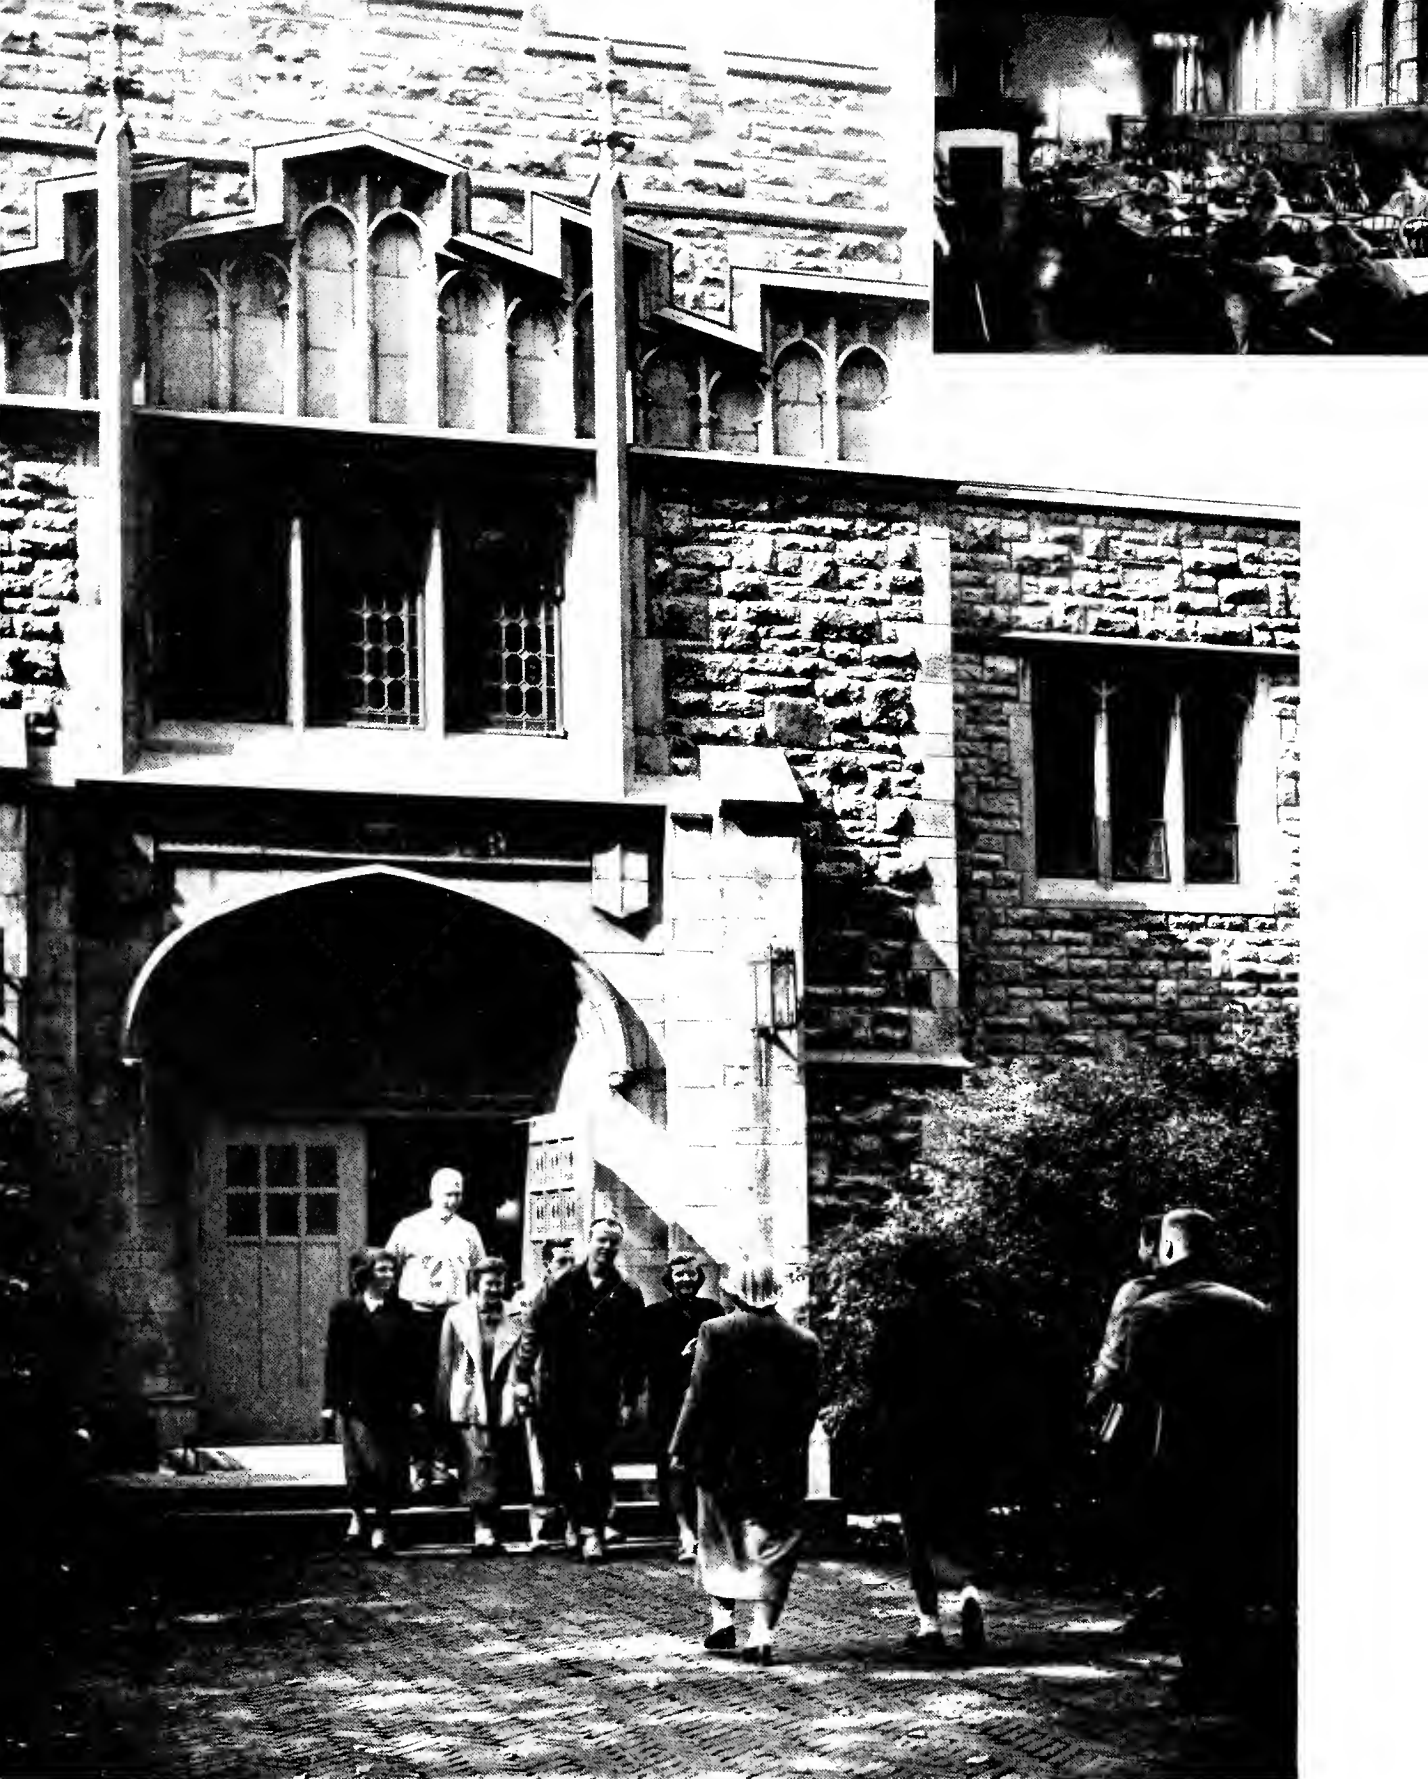

Knox Memorial Gymnasium the first of the new buildings soon to be a part of Knox. We all watched its construction . . . the seniors praying it would be complete in time, and all of us cheerfully jumping ditches and walking planks to see basketball games while work on the pool and the rest of the building went on. We had a close catastrophe, but prayers were answered; it's complete and marvelous.

Knox Traditions . . .

The T.K.E.'s predicted, and the team came through to "Make an Ass out of Coe" for the Homecoming football victory. The Freshmen threw their beanies into the Pep Rally bonfire. Phi Gams won the first of the traditional endurance contests, the Sack Race, but the Betas defended their honor by winning the rope pull, and pledge Hamilton was the first man to reach the Phi Delt house with barrel intact.

Homecoming . . .

The silver picture is a part of the traditions of the homecoming. The freshmen, to the old, to alumni to miss a minute of the homecoming. New students were swept into everything. The old students had open houses. We heard nostalgic reminiscences of the "park" and "the dorm". We saw the play, went to the dance. It was the homecoming. Homecoming was the "great event".

Finley Lecture Series

The Finley Foundation fund this year was used by the International Relations Club to serve the most timely purpose of informing students and Galesburg citizens on the growing problem of Germany. Four prominent lecturers spoke to us on this subject introduced in the first address by Kurt von Schuschnigg (pictured below), ex-Premier of Austria.

When Christmas rolls around, you can just feel it in the air. You can see it in the way people are bustling around; you can smell it and taste it in a wonderful Christmas dinner, and you can hear it outside your window when carolers' voices echo festively from the snow through the cold air of a winter night.

Chairman Gord and her committee did wonders for the Galesburg Armory—the atmosphere of an old English street scene permeated the big, stark room for the K.A.W.S. • Military Ball

The suspense was ended the night of the impressive Military Ball, when all eyes watched Carol Wessling come down the aisle and present a bouquet of roses to the new battalion sponsor, honorary Lieutenant Colonel, Bobbie Stout. Out of ten nominees Bobbie was chosen to reign at the Ball. Chairman, Dick Fleming, then announced that Molly McLain was elected as honorary captain and sponsor of company A, Ellie Nichols, company B, and Char Hiatt, company C. After presenting these certificates of honorary rank, Colonel Lockett decorated "Swede" Roskam and Jim Powelson with the two Chicago Tribune medals for military excellence and leadership. Besides receiving the gold medal, "Swede" was twice honored by being appointed cadet battalion commander. One of the purposes of the Mil Ball, of course, was to provide an impressive initiation for the fifteen new initiates into Scabbard and Blade. So to culminate the ceremony they advanced to be formally dubbed by one of the four sponsors.

President Sharvy G. Umbeck

A stranger on campus for the first time would find it hard to believe that Dr. Umbeck has been our college president for only two years. He has won the students simply by making them his friends. His sons, Jimmy and Johnny, are both sports fans and being anxious to introduce his family, Dr. Umbeck brings them and their mother, of course, to all the big games. Besides bringing his wife and children to us, the president has often entertained student groups in his home with informal dinners.

With so much intimacy and trust to rely upon, Dr. Umbeck has the vital foundation to carry out all his enthusiastic, ambitious plans for the future of Knox. Ostensibly, the new Memorial Gymnasium proves this most clearly—and impressive proof it is. On Founder's Day, however, as he sketched the near future plans for completing Knox's architectural project for us, we realized that the gym was only a beginning toward a well integrated campus, with modern dorms, a fine arts building, football stadium and on and on.

Important and dazzling as these additions will be, the president foresees an intangible, almost spiritual, growth in Knox College. The growth that occurs in the student body itself as it absorbs a stimulating and thoroughly natural atmosphere. The growth of course must happen, but Dr. Umbeck has already laid the groundwork for providing the atmosphere. The development program with its own staff, the specialized duties of Dr. Peake as Dean of the College, internationally famous speakers on campus, a much improved freshman orientation program—all stepping stones toward a college of even greater national renown.

• Knox Board of Trustees

The Board of Trustees is vitally important to the security and welfare of Knox College. This group handles the property and financial business of the school and is the ultimate authority on all matters of broad policy. The 25 members of the board are concerned with the over-all picture that Knox presents and such essential matters as long range fund development.

Three of the board members are Alumni Trustees nominated by the Knox Alumni Association for three-year terms. The president of the college is a member ex officio. The remaining 21 are elected by the board itself to serve seven year periods. Meetings are held three times a year; at Homecoming and Commencement in Galesburg, and the January meeting in Chicago. The trustees are not always Knox graduates and at present five members of the board did not attend Knox—an added testimony to their interest in Siwash.

Knox College Trustees are for the most part men and women actively engaged in their own business affairs, and yet they voluntarily give a tremendous amount of their valuable time to the board work. They are very generous in their financial support as well, as is evidenced by the fact that their contributions to the Memorial Gymnasium have totalled $211,396.

Outstanding in service and time spent in building a better Knox are Thomas H. Blodgett, who has been a trustee since 1926, Mrs. Janet Greig Post and Nelson W. Willard who have served since 1925, and Frank M. Lay who has been a board member since 1923, has served as Chairman, and has recently contributed $100,000 for a swimming pool in the gymnasium.

Officers of the Board of Trustees are: President, Sharvy G. Umbeck, Secretary-Treasurer, Kellogg D. McClelland and Chairman, Vernon M. Welsh. Honorary Trustees are Earnest Elmo Calkins and Otto Harbach.

• Dean of the College

Dr. Charles H. Peake, formerly of the University of Michigan, took office at Knox this year as Dean of the College. His duties involve the realization of educational aims and policies, the improvement of instruction and curriculum, and general representation of the college administration. The position of Dean of the College is a newly created one, and Dr. Peake has already shown it to be a valuable innovation.

Largely concerned with faculty personnel and the total conception of the students' entire program in residence, his position differs from those of deans Smyth and Willhite who handle student activities, social life, discipline, dormitories, sororities and fraternities, and the employment service.

In the short time that Dean Peake has been on campus, he has impressed us all with his sincerity of purpose and his enthusiasm for the future development of Knox.

• Business Administration

Knox's tradition for excellence and stability extends far beyond the academic into the competitive world of business. With the help of the finance committee, Kellogg McClelland, with one eye on the stock market and a constant ear to the ground for sound investments, keeps a firm hand on the college treasury. On the other hand, T. S. McClure deals with the daily business problems which are the concern of every modern institution. This expert guidance has resulted in a college of the highest possible financial stability.

With duties of a strictly collegiate nature Registrar Rothwell Stephens is the man with the grades. Before class standing and grades are considered, however, the prospective Knoxite has come into contact with director of admissions, Dave Robinson, and assistant Chuck Wetherbee personally and through their representative literature and catalogues.

Once admitted, the student may have little contact with the registrar and the admissions office, but the librarians will soon be his frequent helpers, and Seymour Library his "home away from home."

• Alumni Office

Many students think of our alumni mostly in connection with Homecoming and fraternity Founders' Day dinners. Knox alums, however, have kept a vital interest in college activities and plans as evidenced by the numerous active alumni associations all over the country. These organizations as well as individual graduates are kept in constant touch with Knox through the resourcefulness of our Alumni Office. Gene Conklin, public relations man, personally attends many alumni meetings, while Rudy Fiala uses every channel for publicizing Knox achievements and activities, and Mrs. Hoopes handles alumni correspondence.

Dean Trevor, Esq., Director, Coach J. Turner, Howard Downing, Jay Thomas

• Coaches

The Siwashers who represent Knox in intercollegiate competition are under the very careful supervision of a coaching staff of five which is headed by Athletic Director Dean Trevor. Coaches Turner, Boynton, Downing, and Thomas complete the staff which, in addition to coaching duties, is charged with the responsibility of directing the men's physical education courses offered by the college.

• K Council

All Knox men who have earned a varsity letter for athletic participation are eligible for admittance into the "K" Council.

Supplementing their important task of coordinating activities toward the development of greater school interest, participation, and spirit, the Council also ushers at athletic contests and extends courtesy and helpfulness to visiting teams.

The Council also entertains athletic hopefuls of high school age who may enroll at Knox.

The Board of Athletic Control at Knox undoubtedly holds more power than any other group in the realm of athletics.

It is this board that determines which men are eligible to receive varsity letters and freshman numerals for collegiate competition. In addition to this important duty the Board also has the responsibility of distributing the funds of the athletic department.

The managing of the intramural athletic program which is so very active at the college is another of the more important functions of the Board.

The Board includes Mr. Hinchliff, representative of the Alumni Association; Mr. McClelland, representative of the Board of Trustees; Dr. Walton, faculty representative; several members of the coaching staff, and five members of the student body who have won varsity letters.

When the Siwash gridders pushed over Monmouth last November they not only gained possession of the coveted Bronze Turkey but also lowered the curtain on a season which gave Knox a piece of their first conference championship in eleven years—tying with Coe and Ripon. Losing only one conference game to Beloit, and tying one non-conference tilt with Wabash, the Siwashers, in the words of Coach Harold Turner, “displayed a spirit of cooperation and fine teamwork that gave Knox a truly championship squad.”

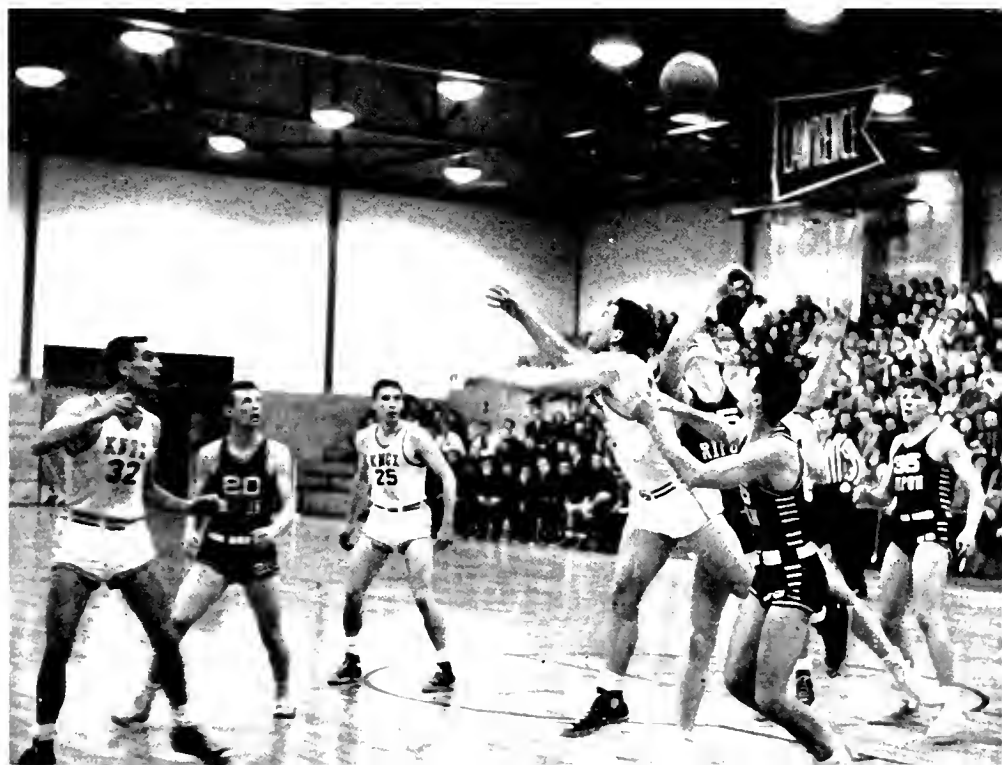

Four Knoxites were honored with berths on the all-conference team. Fairman, Albright, and Thompson were listed on the first offensive team and Lundeen, whose superb passing and punting got the Siwashers out of many tough spots, received a place on the first defensive team.

Of particular sentimental value to the team were the tremendously inspiring “cheers” of Humphrey, Egbert, and Ichabod—three studious young frogs. Watching the Siwashers attentively from choice perches on the fifty yard-line, these loyal spectators were always in the habit of arriving at their honored places together. Then one Saturday morning in October when the bus was about ready to leave for the Wabash game Humphrey and Egbert appeared alone. Ichabod was nowhere to be seen. When at last the day was over the Siwashers had been able to muster only a 14-14 tie. Now for those who tend to scorn superstitions this might be regarded as coincidental. But when two weeks later all three honored spectators missed the bus to the Beloit game and the Siwashers suffered their only defeat of the season, many of the more reserved collegians began to wonder.

Regardless of the fact that these events might have been coincidental, as long as the “Poppas” of this illustrious trio are fighting for Old Siwash, these faithful frogs will never be allowed to miss another Knox football game.

• Basketball

When the Siwash cagers took to the court this season, they were playing in a new gym, were wearing new uniforms, had a new coach, and the team seemed to go right along with the act by showing a new spark. Even though the basketekers were somewhat handicapped by the fact that Hanks and Anderson were not eligible until Winter Quarter, the Knoxites got an excellent start in conference competition. At the end of the season, the cagers settled with six wins and four losses in the conference which pegged them in fourth place. Lundeen, sharpshooting guard, finished sixth in conference scoring.

One of the team's greatest assets was their new coach, "Tip" Downing. Mr. Downing came to Knox last September as basketball coach and has already proved his ability in that position. It is correct to say that Coach Downing feels that the team did their share, for as he personally said, "the boys played exceptionally well, especially when you consider their lack of height."

● Swimming

Unfortunately enough for the swimming team the season was over before the new Knox pool was ready for use. Few realize just how inconvenient this fact made things for the varsity. These men had to be satisfied to work out in the "Y" pool at whatever hours it happened to be open—this was sometimes at 10:00 in the evening.

Nevertheless the tankmen did get in shape and competed in dual meets with Bradley, Augie, Grinnell; a quadrangular meet at Augie, and the conference meet.

Al Lechner, one of the main sparks in Coach Turner's team, broke two Knox College swimming records. Al set new marks in the 50-yard freestyle, and the 100-yard freestyle.

Although the Knoxites could not amass enough points to win any one meet, five of the tankmen, Werner, Stilwell, Scott, Lechner, and Carter, grabbed enough points to win letters.

• Track Team

• Track Review

When Coach Harold Turner put out a call for men interested in track he found that he had only two returning lettermen. Cliff VanDyke and Bob Milner, both distance men, were the only decorated veterans available to build a team around. However, with a host of former freshman and intramural-trained talent, Coach Turner was able to build a well-balanced group of thinclads who competed quite admirably in six different meets and also in the Midwest Conference meet.

Such assets as Angeloff in the broad jump and javelin; Williams in the distance runs; Allard in the weight department; and Ogden in the hurdles, all helped to relieve Coach Turner's troubles.

There was also quite an array of fine talent among the freshmen who reported for spring workouts.

• Varsity

Although the varsity wrestling squad lost both of their dual meets to Augustana and Grinnell, Chuck Porter and Jack Ingersoll pulled through both meets with clean records. At the Midwest Conference meet the Knox matmen were able to pull down a third place banner.

Porter and Ingersoll both lettered in wrestling due to their excellent season's records.

During the entire school year the men and women students who are interested in archery meet at beautiful Greene Oaks to improve their marksmanship. The group, which this year numbered twenty is under the direction of John Hook, a student, and is sponsored by Miss Bielefeldt of the faculty.

This season the Knox archers competed against both Bradley and MacMurray.

Sports

With a total of eight matches and the conference playoffs to compete in the varsity tennis team took to the courts with three returning lettermen Gordon Gredell, Dean Doolan, and Bob Hegel. As usual the diligent practice and intra-team matches of the varsity netmen were under the capable direction of Coach Trevor.

Under the sponsorship of Sergeant Stewart the Knox rifle team meets once a month to fire on the range.

About twenty men and ten women students constitute the organization which is headed by President Gene Graham, Vice-President Anne Edgerton, Secretary-Treasurer Grace Topping, and Executive Officer Don Rocke.

In their one shoulder-to-shoulder contest with Monmouth, the Knoxites emerged victoriously.

Intramurals

The six fraternities and the organized Independents at Knox all compete in a tremendously active intramural athletic program sponsored by the college athletic department. Unfortunately in a publication such as the GALE we cannot wait long enough before going to press to publish the winners of all the activities. However, we are able to disclose and picture the winners of the events run off before spring quarter.

Starting off the program during fall quarter, the Phi Gams captured first in volleyball. Also during that quarter, the Phi Delts came out first in cross country. Then as winter quarter moved in, the Phi Gams ran off with the crowns for both "A" and "B" league basketball. The bowling trophy was very deservedly won by the Phi Delts.

The college also has competition for the organizations in ping pong, swimming, tennis, golf, and track.

• W. A. A. Council

Here are the people who plan and carry out the recreational program of the Women's Athletic Association for the women of the college.

President Mary Darr and her council sponsored the usual intramural tournaments in hockey, basketball, bowling, and badminton. This year, however, competition on an intersorority rather than the former interclass basis stirred even greater enthusiasm. Individual open tournaments were held in tennis, ping pong, and golf.

Among the highlights of the year was the basketball dinner honoring the winning Tri Delt team during which some eighty-four players and council members were served the traditional spaghetti supper. The regular Friday night badminton sessions drew full house crowds; the field archers spent fall and spring weekends on the Knox course at Greene Oaks with an inter-school meet with Bradley University climaxing the season. Knox's famous target archers were again rated high in the Midwest area and outstanding among the nation's archers in the national intercollegiate tournament.

W.A.A. includes three specialized clubs in the fields of riding, swimming, and dancing. On the following pages we have shown Thunder-on-the-Left, Puddles, and Orchesis in action.

• Thunder

For the past twelve years, the Gymkhana show presented by members of Thunder-on-the-Left has been one of the highlights of the Women's Day program. Besides their annual horse show, the members ride as often as possible and on several occasions have taken early morning breakfast rides. This year a trip was made to the Arabian horse farm at Wyoming, Illinois. Every spring try-outs are held for the equestriennes who aspire to membership. Marty Pratt served as president this year with Mary Darr, secretary, Pat Shafer, treasurer, and Joy Larson, social chairman.

• Puddles

Puddles-on-the-Right is composed of twenty-five girls who have a true interest in synchronized swimming. Since the club now has access to the new Frank M. La. Natatorium, even more enthusiasm has developed. With Carol Tourtellott as faculty advisor, Puddles presented a demonstration for Women's Day and participated in a swimming clinic at the University of Illinois. Membership was doubled after try-outs in February. Officers for the 1950-51 season are: president, Nancy Campbell; vice-president, Jane King; and secretary-treasurer, Betsy Seibel.

• Orchesis

The second annual Orchesis concert in April was excellent. It claimed full-house attendance and was an extremely entertaining show. Twenty-five hard-working girls spend many hours preparing the concert which featured works by Gershwin, T. S. Eliot, Strauss, Prokofiev, and others. This year Orchesis added more males to their membership list which now includes Harry Thompson, Bill Ogdon, Bill Thompson, and Phil Angeloff. Under the direction of Carol Tourtellott, advisor, and Martha Jacobsen, president, Orchesis does more than just plan its Knox concert. This year the dance group performed for the Galesburg High School girls, for the Galesburg musicians club, and also had a part in the Homecoming play, "Beggar on Horseback."

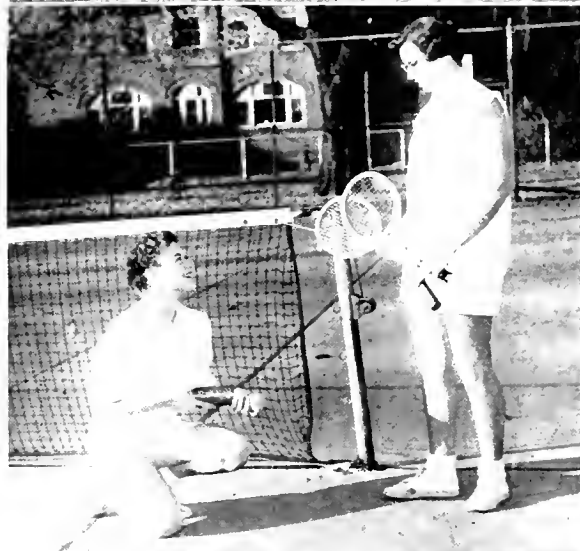

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

A new emphasis and interest has developed in girls' athletics on the Knox campus with the exclusive use of the women's gym. This was clearly evidenced by the enthusiastic and active participation in the enlarged program of intersport sports. Last year the only sport based on serious competition was baseball with the Phi Mus capturing the first championship. This year, however, we have pictured some of the new tournaments added to the agenda. The final results of course have not been determined, but the girls are keeping up a fine spirit of interest. Many are discovering new skills while others continue familiar activities with growing facility.

Ruth McGee—a strike no doubt, Jo Larsen and Pat Witte—just a practice game; Meda Manierre and Joan Stoutter—a good doubles team; Anne Reutlinger and Laurie Johnson—archery has long been a strong point at Knox; Bobbie Stout and Margie Drew take advantage of the warm fall for tennis; that's Marcia Uplinger so gracefully poised for a basket while Barb Seiboldt and Marilyn Hartwig lock on.

● pan-hellenic council

These ladies supervise intersorority relations on campus, for Panhel sets down and enforces the rules for rushing and pledging procedures, and in February it sponsors the annual Panhellenic Formal, a girls' invitational. Each sorority elects two members to the council, presidency of which rotates every year. Last year's president was JoAnn Hickey, who turned the gavel over to Rosemary Marshall in January. The council has a real job this year in initiating an entirely new rushing program to implement deferred rushing which will begin next fall.

● pan-hellenic house council

When the pipes in the Panhellenic House freeze, or someone forgets to lock a door, it is the job of the Panhel House Council to deal with the offenders. President Edie Powers heads the council which is composed of ten members, two from each sorority. Twice a month they meet to revise and carry out house rules. They also adjust the time schedule for each sorority's use of the house, and see that the proper equipment is available and in good order.

● Interfraternity Council

The fate of Knox's six fraternities is placed in the hands of the Interfraternity Council which is comprised of two representatives from each fraternity and Mr. Robert Harper who acts as faculty advisor. Dan Braucher headed the Council this year and was assisted by Cliff Van Dyke who acted as vice-president. The Council was in charge of rushing, pledging, and enforcing the rushing rules which helped the faculty in its drive to improve freshman scholarship. To place additional emphasis on freshman scholarship, the Council established a Scholarship Plaque to be presented to the fraternity pledge class with the highest scholastic index for the Fall Quarter.

The Interfraternity Council also presents an Intramural Trophy to the fraternity which amasses the greatest number of points in intramural competition. One of the biggest undertakings of the Interfraternity Council, in collaboration with the Panhellenic Council, was the establishment of an effective deferred rushing program which requires the cooperation of all fraternities.

• Alpha Xi Delta

Both individually and collectively the Alpha Xi's again made their mark on campus life. For example, Alpha chapter's president, Jane Bergquist, also served as secretary of Mortar Board, treasurer of W.A.A., and was chosen while still a junior for Phi Beta Kappa. She was also elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Other officers of Alpha chapter this year were vice-president, Carol Fisher; recording secretary, Jo Cross; and treasurer, Jan Reynolds.

Many more Alpha Xi's were kept busy holding offices and attending meetings of other well-known campus organizations throughout the year. Ginny Pepich, Jan Volz, and Judy Watkins served on the Sophomore Commission. Vice-president of K.A.W.S. this year was Marcia Uplinger, and the important post of Pan-hellenic secretary-treasurer was filled by Jean Keith. In the sports department Mary Ann Reed headed the archery division of W.A.A. and was secretary-treasurer of the Field Archery Club. Ann Swann was SAI's treasurer and Marcia Uplinger its secretary.

Lorraine Blondeel, who joined the ranks of Curtain Call early in the year, put in a lot of time at the theater as assistant director of the Homecoming play, as did Jean Keith and Anne Reutlinger, successive costume mistresses throughout the year. The entire chapter was extremely proud of Jan Reynolds who was chosen in a nationwide contest for work on the college board of "Mademoiselle" magazine, and who also received the Greig-Post poetry prize.

As in preceding years, the 1950-51 social calendar was full of fun and dance. Everyone enjoyed the Alpha Xi's "Suppressed Desires" party in early fall, followed later in the month by an evening of entertainment on Robinson Crusoe's desert island. Santa Claus made his annual appearance at a Christmas breakfast, and that special feeling of sisterhood was climaxed at a lovely party on Valentine's Day given by the pledges. Yet the highlight of the year was the beautiful sentimental spring formal at Soangetaha Country Club.

• Delta Delta Delta

The scrapbook of Epsilon chapter, opened to the year 1950-51, radiates college life at its height—personalities, students, executives, leaders, and—fun!

Remember the Twin Spin, our fall party? The pledges marched forth in fine style with "North Atlantic", nope, "There is Nothing Like a Man!" And some pledges—they took not one, but several walkouts! To finance our Tri Delt senior scholarship again this year, we had bake sales, rummage sales, and sold Mums at Homecoming.

Peg Stouffer was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, and was a member of Mortar Board, of which Nancy Nelson was president. Who's Who also selected her for membership. The Panhel president was Jo Hickey, and Orchesis president was Martha Jacobsen. Joann Casburn was a member of Sophomore Commission.

This 1951 Gale was put together under the guidance of Molly McLain, who also reigned as a company sponsor at the Military Ball. Lois Gord served as art editor of the Gale and of the Siwasher, as chairman of the K.A.W.S. Ball, and as chapter rush chairman—whew! Margie Drew was on the Honor Board and had a lead in "The Gilded Clock." Lil Mureen, besides having a lead in the Homecoming play, had her own Sunday afternoon radio program on WCIL. Barb Roeth twirled a mighty fine baton at half time during football games; she was Knox's first drum majorette. And lo and behold, the Tri Delt came through with the championship of the inter-sorority basketball tourney—the first of what is becoming an annual intramural competition.

Why the pages of this scrapbook fairly blossom with spring fever! Barb Pebler and Georgia Glader are leaving that for the new president and vice-president, Jane King and Lois Gord, to wrestle with—spring fever and spring fun and the prospect of a new and wonderful year.

• Delta Zeta

Headed by Pauline Panos as president, Delta Zeta held a prominent place in campus activities and organizations.

The first social event of the year was the fall party, planned and executed by the pledges. Based on a Hallowe'en theme, it gave the season a fine send off. A sorority Christmas party was given and the annual spring formal ended a successful year.

•D.Z. was represented in many organizations. Bobbie Stout is a member of Campus Commission, Curtain Call, vice-president of the Y.W.C.A., and held leading roles in "Beggar On Horseback" and "Twelfth Night." She and Audrey Rayfield were members of Phi Beta, while Marilyn Moore, Barb Lewis and Betty Jackson were in S.A.I. Jeneinne Anderson was named secretary of the Student Council, while Pauline Panos held down the position of secretary-treasurer of the rifle club. The Y.W.C.A. had Jo Ann Ebert as secretary and Kathy Zimmerman was honored as a member of Sophomore Commission.

A big event of the year was the election of Bobbie Stout as R.O.T.C. Battalion sponsor. Pledge awards went to Diane Chamberlain, Betty Cooke, Marilyn Larsen, Julia Harrell, and Audrey Rayfield. Julia Harrell and Sue Smale were freshman honor students.

The other officers for the year were Bobbie Stout, vice-president; Jeneinne Anderson, 2nd vice-president and Rush Chairman; Joan Johnson, recording secretary; Maryellen Dixon, corresponding secretary; and Martha Hammerschmidt, treasurer.

As a chapter, Delta Zeta was responsible for the management of registration when the T.B. x-ray unit was on campus. The D.Z. Standards Meeting featured Anne Weinmann, Brigetta Reichermann, Mrs. Marjorie Schneider, and Gail Brook Burkett as guest speakers.

• Phi Mu

Leadership in many of the campus activities this year was assumed by the Phi Mus. On Sophomore Commission were Barbara Brunoehler, Barbara Adkins, and Mary Laura Johnson, who also was a member of Campus Commission. Mortar Board members were Pat Kimble, Neva Sebert, and Phi Mu's president, Carol Wessling; these three girls were also elected to Who's Who. Both Rosemary Marshall and Pat Kimble were on the President's Co-Operative Roundtable, as heads of the Panhellenic Council and THE STUDENT respectively.

Assisting Pat on the newspaper were Barbara Brunoehler, Phyll Jaeschke, Rosemary Marshall, and Myrle Trieger as columnists. Rosemary and Neva Sebert were on the editorial staff of the SIWASHER, and Cynthia Kenyon was the organizations editor of the GALE. Excelling in the field of music were Judy Juers, president of the band, and Mary Laura Johnson who was president of the Sinfonietta. Marian Tenhaeff was chosen as president of the Whiting Hall Council this year, and it was she who organized, and is now president of GNIS, girls' chorus.

Phi Beta claimed Cynthia Kenyon, Barbara Adkins, Barbara Brunoehler, and Olive Waggener, while Joan Armstrong and Lorraine Johnson pledged Sigma Alpha Iota. In the theatre Neva Sebert not only was chairman of the make-up crew but also was student director of TWELFTH NIGHT, a real job. As a result of her many hours of work in the theatre, Cynthia Kenyon was elected to Curtain Call as well as being appointed chairman of the paint crew. Mary Laura Johnson was vice-president of YWCA, and also on the executive board were Carlee Bengston and Pat Fredenhagen.

Elected as officers for 1951-52 were Cynthia Kenyon, president; Rosemary Marshall, vice-president, Myrle Trieger, pledge trainer; and Judy Juers, treasurer.

• Pi Beta Phi

Activity girls, these Pi Phis—they're brainy too—holding the inter-sorority scholastic plaque for the second consecutive year. Among the presidentships on campus held by Pi Phi members this year were: Nancy Campbell, president of YWCA, Mary Darr, WAA president, Charlene Hiatt, president of Phi Beta; Gretchen Shirck, SAI president; and Martha Pratt and Nancy Campbell, presidents of Thunder-on-the-Left and Puddles-on-the-Right respectively. For individual honors Charlene Hiatt was outstanding as a member of Who's Who and Mortar Board, and she and Ellie Nichols were both chosen to be honorary company sponsors at the ROTC Military Ball. Gretchen Shirck is also on Mortar Board, and Nancy Tucker and Louise Lord are members of Sophomore Commission.

In the journalistic field, Joan Foster was chosen to serve on the Board of Publications for the college. Eleanor Nichols was selected as next year's editor of the GALE. On the KNOX STUDENT Nancy Roman was associate editor, and Nancy Tucker, feature editor. Serving on the WAA Council were Charlene Hiatt, Marjorie Stuart, Alice Campbell, and Ellie Moore; and on the YWCA Cabinet, Charlene and Nancy Tucker.

Pi Phis were also very active in the Knox Theatre. In the Homecoming play, "Beggar on Horseback," Nancy Campbell had one of the leading roles, and in "Twelfth Night" later in the year she played the part of Olivia. As a result, she and Joan Foster were chosen to Curtain Call. Eleanor Nichols had one of the leads in "The Gilded Clock."

Officers of Pi Beta Phi elected in January were Marjorie Stuart, president; Eleanor Nichols, vice-president; Nancy Roman, corresponding secretary; Joy Larson, recording secretary; and Chris Gregg, treasurer. The 1950 officers replaced were Charlene Hiatt, Gretchen Shirck, Eleanor Moore, Mary Strauss, and Joan Dunsmore.

• Beta Theta Pi

With the re-opening of school in September, the chapter became involved immediately in rushing activities, under the leadership of Dean Rich, rushing chairman. At Homecoming the pledge class under the leadership of Gary Martinson, pledge class president, proved their ability to work together by winning the annual Beta-Phi Gam "rope pull."

Athletics have always been important at the Beta house, and this year was no exception. The 1949-1950 Intramural Champions have been strong competitors in intramural sports especially volleyball, both basketball leagues, and baseball. The Betas were well represented in varsity athletics. There were seven Betas on the football team, one of whom was Pat Fairman—All-Conference fullback. There were several Betas on Knox's varsity basketball team, and Bob Carter represented Beta Theta Pi on the college swimming team.

Many Betas were outstanding in school activities as well. Walt Oswald was vice-president of the Student Council and Bob Kensel was elected treasurer of the Senior Class. Don Hines was Sports Editor of the GALE, the campus yearbook, and many other members of the chapter worked on other campus publications. Swede Roskam and Jim Powelson were recipients of the Chicago "Tribune" ROTC medals. Phil Angeloff distinguished himself in the Knox Theatre and received the Zetterberg Award for outstanding college achievement during his freshman year. Don Hines and Rollin Huggins received Interfraternity Council awards for outstanding scholarship among Greek letter men for the Fall Quarter of the school year 1950-1951.

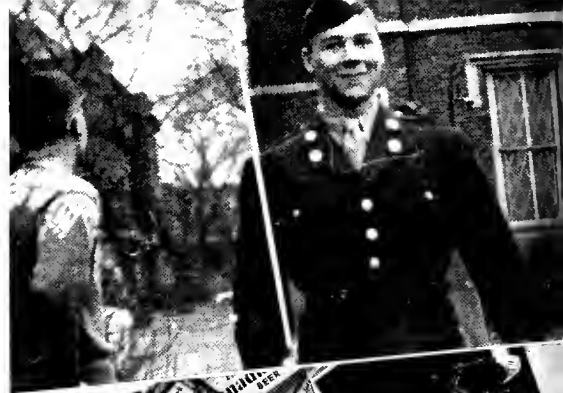

Chapter officers were Walt Oswald, president; Tom Taylor, vice-president, Rollin Huggins, secretary; and Bob Kensel, treasurer.

• Phi Delta Theta

Under the able leadership of Jim Hoopes—who was assisted by Bob Hicks, Fred Peterson, and Bill Van Trigt—and Jim Duffy—who was in turn assisted by Al Behm and again Fred Peterson and Bill Van Trigt—Phi Delta Theta enjoyed one of its most prosperous years in its eighty year history on the Knox campus.

Active team participation was displayed by the Phis in all phases of Knox's athletic program both on the college's varsity and freshman teams, as well as in the field of intramural sports. Ken Lundeen, Knox's outstanding quarterback, received the Hunter Trophy as well as the Student Council trophy for the most outstanding senior grid player, a feat unprecedented in the history of the college. Also receiving recognition for their athletic ability were Bob Hicks and Walt Verner. Bob was elected to the co-captainship of next year's football squad, and Walt has the honor of being Knox's only member of Sigma Delta Psi, national honorary athletic fraternity.

Highlighting this year's very successful social calendar, which was under the direction of George Porter and Dave Allensworth, were the Bowery Party, Homecoming activities which brought over two hundred Phi alumni and their families to the recently redecorated "little white house on the hill," the annual Winter Formal, and also the Spring Formal. Other important social functions included the annual celebration of Founder's Day with the local Alumni Association, Mother's Day, picnics, smokers, and "vic" parties.

Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity, elected Bob Langer, Jim Duffy, Bill Van Trigt, Jordan Fifield, and Chuck Porter into their ranks this fall. Don Stroben was named to the Campus Commission, and Jordan Fifield and Bob Curran received scholastic honors for the chapter.

• Phi Gamma Delta

Scholarship remained at a high level in the Fiji house throughout the past year, as the Farnum all-fraternity scholarship cup was won for the second year in a row. Not to be outdone by their actives, the thirty-man pledge-class worked hard to win the first pledge scholarship plaque ever awarded at Knox. Added in the field of intramural athletics were trophies for the Homecoming sack-race, volleyball, and both the "A" and "B" basketball leagues.

Harry Thompson was elected president of the Student Council. Don Albright and Cliff Van Dyke were president and vice-president of the senior class, respectively. These three are also Friars and among Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Dick Neumiller was selected to serve on Campus Commission; Len Kuchan served as Literary Editor of the GALE; Cliff Van Dyke was president of Scabbard and Blade.

The annual Fiji-Island party was a definite success. The house was converted into a bamboo shack, with a waterfall as an added attraction. Sarongs were prevalent.

The conference-championship football team was co-captained by Harry Thompson and Don Albright, who were both selected to be all-conference players as well. Seven Fijis won football letters. On the cage squad were Nelson Hanks, starting sophomore center, guard Deane Doolen, and forwards Albright, Sherrick, and Gene Anderson.

Officers for the year 1950-51 were Bill Ingersoll, Jim Witte, Harry Neumiller, Bob Hegel, and Hal Pyke. They were succeeded by Bob Hegel, president; Len Kuchan, treasurer; Jack Metzel, recording secretary; Dick Neumiller, corresponding secretary; and Don Harris, historian.

• Phi Sigma Kappa

The school year 1950-1951 has been a banner year for Phi Sigma Kappa. With the pledging of twenty men in the fall, the chapter got off to an excellent start which continued throughout the entire year.

On campus the chapter was active in many extra-curricular activities, in various fields. John Harkness was holding down a starting position on the varsity football team, and Dean Miller was one of the regular five on the varsity cage squad. It seems the boys know how to handle money for both business manager jobs on the publications are held by Don Kowalski and Philo Kane, STUDENT and CALE respectively. Bob Greenfield and Dennis Brady made enviable records on the debate squad while in the theatre Ralph Beebe was stage manager.

The annual fall party was the high point of the fall social calendar. The theme was, "Hillbilly Hoe-Down," and Bill Hellwig received the trophy for winning the pledge race from Whiting Hall to the house.

In the Fall Quarter, Philo Kane held the reins with Howard Cowper, Ralph Beebe, and Dutch Dahlin assisting. Following the Christmas vacation, Howie moved up the ladder into the presidency. At this time Gil Endicott, Bob Seeley, and Dutch Dahlin were elected vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively.

The chapter is looking forward confidently to another successful year in 1951-1952.

• Sigma Nu

The complete redecoration of the interior of the chapter house by the members in September opened the school year 1950-1951 for the Sigma Nus. As the year got under way, Ismat Kittani took the helm as Commander, Lee Hasenfang was Lieutenant Commander, Elmer Wirth was treasurer, and Bill Paul was secretary. As the result of spring elections, Elmer Wirth became the new Commander.

Throughout the year Sigma Nu was active in all fields of extra-curricular activities. In the field of intramural sports, the Sigma Nus participated in volleyball, basketball, cross country, and baseball. Jim Scott and Al Lechner turned in outstanding records for the varsity swimming team in dual meets and were the only Knox swimmers to participate in the All-Conference meet at Lawrence. Lee Hasenfang was also a varsity participant on Knox's recently re-activated wrestling team. Many members of the chapter were active in both casts and crews of the Knox Theatre. Some of the most notable being Don Brabec, who was president of Curtain Call, which is Knox's honorary dramatic fraternity, and John Schoeph, who gave several excellent performances throughout the year. Lighting effects for most of the plays were under the direction of Don Brabec who was assisted by Dick Kirkpatrick and Phil Decker.

The Sigma Nus were also active on the social scene. After a very successful rushing period, the Sigma Nus entertained alumni and guests after the Homecoming game. Dad's Day, exchange dinners, the traditional Rose Winter formal, and a very successful Spring formal filled the rest of the social calendar.

Phil Decker was a freshman honor scholar for the year 1950-1951, and Ismat Kittani, who was president of the Honor Board in its first year at Knox, appeared in the "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

• Tau Kappa Epsilon

The top achievement of the Delta chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon this year was the winning of the highly contested Homecoming Decorations Trophy. Jerry Lippens designed the "Let's Make an Ass Out of Coe" house decoration which won the trophy for the Tekes.

There were many Tekes participating in varsity sports. Dan Braucher, Dean Moore, and Dick Clawes were on the college's championship football team, and Dan also played on the basketball team. Bill Morrow, Gene Pepich, and Joe Cerny were the chapter's representatives on the track team, while Don Werner was a breast stroker on the Knox swimming team.

The chapter entered strong teams in both "A" and "B" basketball leagues. Both teams finished in second place with the "A" league team winning the intramural basketball tournament. For the fourth consecutive year, the intramural debate championship was won by the Tekes.

Dan Braucher headed the Interfraternity Council; Dick Fleming was president of the rifle club for the second straight year, and he was succeeded by Gene Graham. Carl Ohman was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic fraternity.

Numerous improvements were made in the fraternity house. The most notable was the completion of the long awaited chapter room. Roger Hughbanks served as president during the year, and was assisted by Jack Dorward as vice-president. Other officers were Bill Morrow, secretary; Hoke Smith, treasurer; John Cibulka, historian; Bill Olsen, pledge trainer; and Dean Moore was Pylocetes post.

• Independents

The Knox Independents or Indees is an organization of non-affiliated students on the Knox campus. Indees participate in the intramural athletics, having basketball, bowling, volley ball, baseball, and tennis teams, and have several informal parties during the year. As a money-making project the Indees run the concessions at football and basketball games, alternating with the "K" Club.

At present there is a movement within the Independent organization to plan informal parties and activities to further faculty and student fellowship and cooperation. New plans are being developed for a program of more all-campus activities in the future. Though, at this time, plans are still in a formulative stage, they are being considered for such activities as trips, discussion groups for campus problems, and informal faculty-student social affairs. All plans are being made with the view of offering interesting, enjoyable activities to any of the Knox students who wish to participate in them.

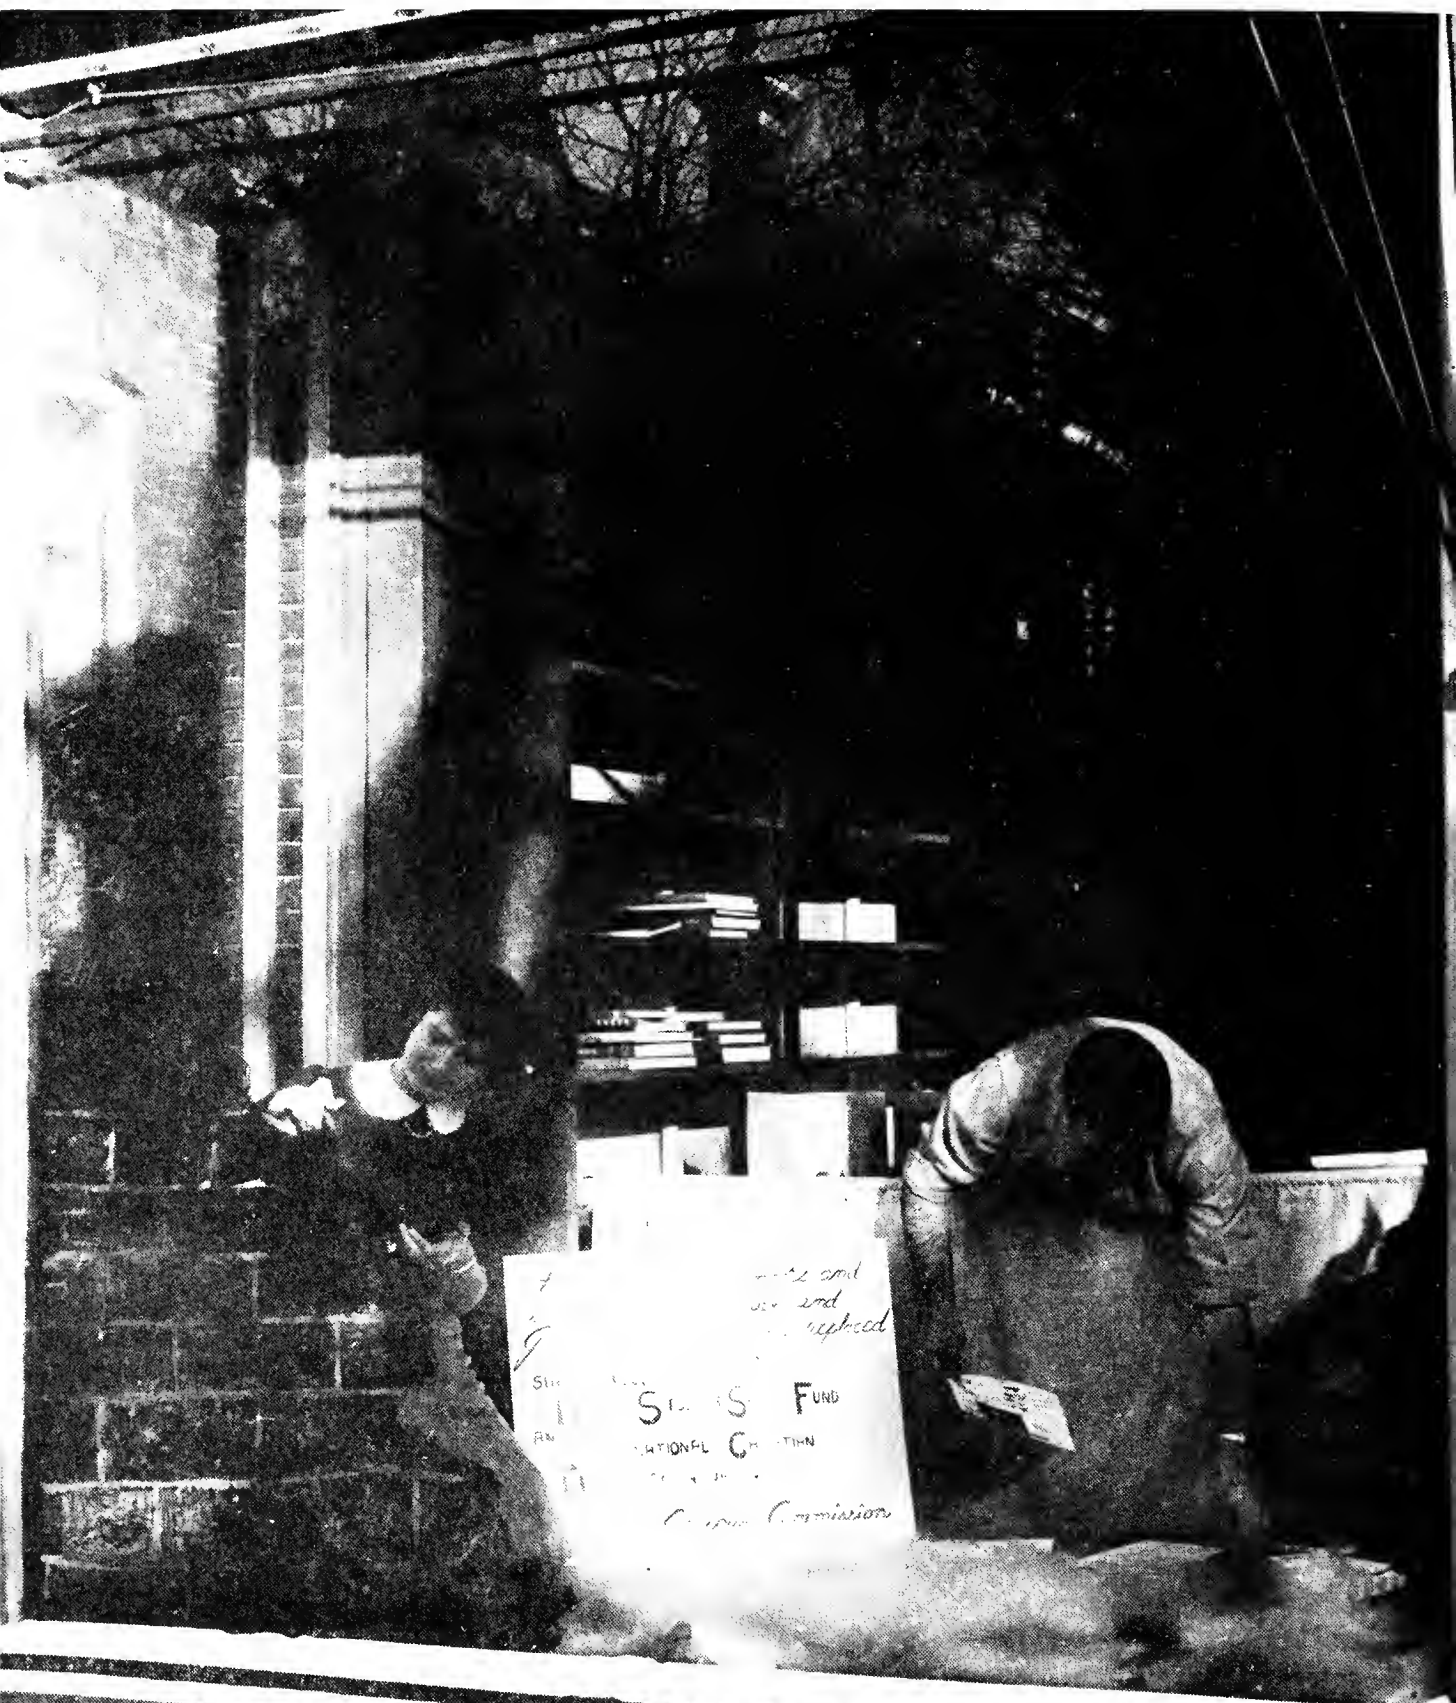

The Independents have representatives in many of the other organizations on campus such as Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Alpha Iota, Delta Sigma Rho, Curtain Call, YWCA, and choir.

The officers for this year are president, Richard Criesenbeck, newly elected to fill the vacancy left by Richard Mallett who transferred to the University of Washington; Charles Anderson, vice-president and social chairman; Mary Emma Price, secretary; and Bernard Weaver, treasurer.

• Beggar on Horseback

The opening production of the Knox Theatre this year was the Homecoming play, BEGGAR ON HORSEBACK. "The Beggar" was a dream-play transpired in the imagination of a young worn-out musician played by Tom Zemek. Lillian Mureen and Bobbie Stout completed the triangle; and Walt Oswald, Nancy Campbell, and Phil Decker, as Bobbie's eccentric wealthy family, added the very humorous element. In addition to these more-or-less intimate "friends" came the swarm of casual acquaintances that fill the average day in a large metropolitan community. The twisted, topsy-turvy actions within the dream are the source of the hilarious plot, which has made "The Beggar" one of the most popular modern farces of the day.

Most of the scene changes were done during blackouts instead of the usual curtain closing. This novelty made the performance even more interesting to both the black attired backstage crews and to the audience.

The Homecoming play inspired many enthusiastic comments and "set the stage" for a sensational theatre season.

P. Jaeschke, B. Roberts, C. Kenyon

• Gilded Clock

"The Gilded Clock" was the theatre group's second play of the year. Director, J. P. Leland, chose this play of a psychological nature and succeeded in giving the audience real dramatic enjoyment as well as thriller excitement.

Bob Miller portrayed Tom Adams, the successful young president of a "great college with a limited enrollment." Other members of his family were played by Eleanor Nichols as Alice, his wife; Don Brabec, his father; Margie Drew, his sister; and Gene Pepich, his brother-in-law. Phil Angeloff portrayed Apollo, the mystic who had the strange power of anticipating death which greatly affected the lives of the family which befriended him.

Under the supervision of technical director, Dean Currie, the stage crews constructed a plush set, complete from liquor cabinet to television set. The modernistic set helped to portray the realistic yet fantastic story of a young professor whose rapid rise to college presidency caused him to exhibit his basic egoism.

• Shakespeare's Twelfth Night

Ten years ago Knox theatre audiences lauded "Twelfth Night," easily one of Shakespeare's best comedies. Now again this rollicking farce of mistaken identity was acclaimed by both Knox and Galesburg.

Mrs. Helen W. Currie, wife of technical director Dean Currie, directed the play and designed all the costumes in exact Elizabethan style with all its splendor of material and intricate design. The stage setting of the 1940 production with its sixteen record time changes was considered outstanding, but the use of a revolving stage in Dean Currie's set was a real hallmark in the history of the Knox theatre. Designed by J. P. Leland and constructed by Dean Currie, the set allowed instantaneous scene changing. Thus the plotting, confused characters could wander about unrestrained, and the full Shakespearean flavor was retained.

"Twelfth Night" provided splendid opportunities for the comic actions of Harry Thompson, as the clown, Phil Angeloff as Sir Andrew, and J. P. as Sir Toby. Their drunken scene will be remembered for a long time as will John Schoeph's hilarious antics as Malvolio in his yellow stockings and cross garters. Judy Watkins, the coquette, Bobbie Stout, the lady page, Bob Miller and Nancy Campbell all contributed their skill to the biggest success of the season.

Curtain Call, the honorary theatre fraternity, added nine new members fall quarter. One of the outstanding new members is Mrs. Dean Currie, who was elected for her more than able, energetic assistance with all the productions.

Don Brabec is president of the group this year, while Ralph Beebe is stage manager; Cynthia Kenyon, paint chairman; Neva Sebert, makeup; Lorainne Blondeel, properties; Ann Rutlinger, costumes; Jim Stephenson, head usher; and Bob Miller, business manager.

Two more names were added to the plaque of honor for outstanding contribution to the Knox theatre. These were graduates, Jean Zemek and Bruce McGuineas.

• Curtain Call

• Stage Crews

Under the able direction of Dean N. Currie, the backstage crews got off to a busy start. These unsung heroes of the theatre paint sets, make costumes, gather props, and hammer the nails into flats which eventually became the essential backings for all the productions done on the Knox stage. By far their biggest endeavor this year was TWELFTH NIGHT's intricate revolving stage which was displayed to the audience after the performances. All of the crews work together to manufacture one product—a successful play.

• Honor Board

An innovation on the Knox campus this year is the Honor Board. This board was created to implement the new honor system. The duties of the board are to inform the students of the honor system and to make recommendations to the administration for dealing with violators.

This year the members of the board acted as freshman counselors and Ismat Kittani, president of the Honor Board, conducted a meeting which was designed to explain the honor system to incoming students.

Sitting: H. Smith, M. Drew, C. Hiatt, B. LaFrence, I. Kittani
 Standing: D. Hines, B. Sherrick, C. Anderson

Founded this year at the suggestion of President Sharvy Umbeck, the Roundtable of students and faculty members is formally entitled the President's Co-operative Roundtable. Its function is to act as a clearing house for complaints and suggestions from the student body to the administration, but basically it serves to share administrative plans, such as the current development program, with the student body.

The students on the Roundtable, as heads of major organizations on campus, compose a representative collegiate group. The group has been enlarged now to include underclassmen, Lois Gord, Sam Hellinger, Rosemary Marshall, and Dick Griesenbeck to carry over upon the graduation of seniors, Don Albright, Pat Kimble, Cliff Van Dyke, Molly McLain, Harry Thompson, Bunny Sandall, Dan Braucher, Jo Hickey, and Ken Lundeen.

• Sinfonietta

The Knox Sinfonietta added new freshman and faculty members to its ranks this year giving it an almost entirely new membership. The group performed at a chapel program early in the winter quarter, gave its regular annual concert, and in cooperation with the Monmouth College Sinfonietta presented two more concerts. The organization is under the direction of Mr. Murray Bayler.

• Choir . . .

The Knox Choir made quite a showing this year. Besides providing its numerous chapel and home concerts, the choir made its annual spring tour and round of Christmas entertainment. The choice of music for the group was chosen through the collaboration of Mr. McCowen and the executive committee.

Mr. McCowen, a newcomer to the Knox music department, added a new spark of enthusiasm to the choir and a good time has been had by all.

• Knox Band

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Wilson

This year the Knox Band presented a greatly enlarged series of football shows under the combined leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Wilson. Due to illness Mr. Wilson was unable to direct the band during football season, so Mrs. Wilson carried on admirably in his place. The peak of the marching band season was reached in the Homecoming display which was presented during halftime at the football game.

At the end of the football season Mr. Wilson rejoined the band and work was started on the band concert. Included in the program were the First and Second Movements of the Unfinished Symphony and Hora Stacato. Plans were also made for the band to present a chapel program.

During the spring quarter the band moved off campus for its second annual tour. Finishing the year, the band led the Commencement procession from Old Main to Central Church. Officers were Hoke Smith, president; Judy Juers, treasurer, and Harlow and John Hosford and Charles Shaw, property men.

• Gnis

This year, GNOS, the men's chorus, had another successful year on campus, giving several chapel programs and combining with its newly formed sister organization, GNIS, for a joint chapel program during spring quarter.

Formed two years ago, GNOS filled a sorely felt need for a men's chorus on campus. This year, due to the efforts of Marian Tenhaeff, GNIS, under Nancy Nelson's direction, was formed and has rendered several fine performances, notably the carols sung during the tree lighting ceremony at Christmas.

All that is required for membership in these organizations, whose aims and requirements are synonymous, is a love of singing. Any Knox student is eligible to join.

• Gnos

• Sigma Alpha Iota

An annual function of Psi chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota which is fast becoming a fine tradition is the reception after the Christmas time performance of "The Messiah" for the soloists and members of the Community Chorus and Orchestra. Several SAI members are themselves in the orchestra. In February, Nancy Nelson directed the group in its American Musical at the Community Lounge. SAI is also duly proud of soprano Lillian Mureen who has her own half-hour radio program on Sunday afternoons.

Members of SAI are music majors or minors who have met certain scholastic requirements, and have been recommended by the music faculty. SAI's objectives are to uphold the highest ideals of a musical education, to raise the standards of productive musical work, to further the development of music in America, and to aid its members in carrying out these objectives.

The officers for the year were Gretchen Shirck, president; Nancy Nelson, vice-president; Audrey Krantz, secretary; and Ann Swann, treasurer

• Phi Beta

J. King, E. Heyl, D. Stoltz

Phi Beta, national professional music and speech fraternity, had a highly successful year on the Knox campus. Again working in conjunction with the men's glee club, GNOS, the Phi Betas wrote and produced a sequel to last year's gay nineties review, following the theme up to the present with a series of sketches and songs depicting life at Knox and elsewhere through the "roaring twenties" to the "chaotic fifties." Neva Sebert directed the show which was written through the collaboration of Barbara Green, Jan Voltz, Joan Foster, and Neva Sebert.

Thirty-four strong, the Phi Betas were led this year by Charlene Hiatt, president; Neva Sebert, vice-president; Jane King, secretary; and Peg Stouffer, treasurer. Marian Tenhaeff acted as pledge trainer, and Bobbie Stout served as rush chairman.

FACULTY FLASHES

ALL STARS

The Faculty Flashes collapsed after the first half in spite of staunch support of the cheering squad led by "Torchie" Tourtelot and "Jefferson Davis" North. The student all-stars played the freshmen second half, and the whole hectic game was followed by a sock dance.

• Campus Commission

Sitting: R. Stout, M. L. Johnson.
Standing: H. Wilson, J. Harsch, D. Young, B. Sherrick.

In addition to supporting World Student Service Fund this year Campus Commission is sending aid to the International Christian University in Japan. They discarded the annual W.S.S.F. carnival as their chief money-making project in favor of a student variety show to be given spring quarter and the hilarious faculty-student basketball game we enjoyed so much this March. The entire proceeds from both of these programs were sent to the W.S.S.F. and I.C.U.

Phi Beta Kappa

Phi Beta Kappa

One of the most highly esteemed possessions of a college graduate is a Phi Beta Kappa Key. This key signifies membership in the oldest Greek letter society in America and is recognized as a mark of outstanding scholastic achievement.

Members of Phi Beta are chosen from the upper seventh of the graduating class, by the faculty, on the basis of high scholastic attainments, promise of future achievement, and distinction in campus activities. Juniors having an extraordinary scholastic record may also receive this honor.

Last year there were six juniors who were presented keys. This is an unusually large number of juniors to receive the award. Pictured on the opposite page, these are (sitting) Jeanette Dick, Jane Bergquist, and Peg Stouffer; (standing) Carl Ohman, Harry Neumiller, and Charles Anderscn. This year's selection will be made in the spring.

Phi Beta Kappa was founded at William and Mary in 1776 as a social and literary fraternity. Through the years it has evolved into the most honored scholastic organization in the country. Delta chapter at Knox was established in 1917 and has the distinction of being one of the two chapters in Illinois. The other is at Illinois College in Jacksonville.

Who's Who

Thirteen Knox seniors were selected this year for recognition in "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities." This national reference volume is published annually to honor the outstanding leaders on American college and university campuses and to furnish authoritative information on the various groups representing the country's leading educational institutions.

Recognition in "Who's Who" is one of the highest honors a college student can attain. It is based on scholarship, leadership and cooperation, participation in academic and extra-curricular activities, general citizenship, and promise of future usefulness.

These students were first nominated by a Student Council committee and later approved by the faculty. The names were then recommended to the national "Who's Who" organization where they were considered and accepted.

• Friars

Election to Friars is a tribute to leadership, scholarship, personality, and participation in college activities during a man's first three years. Selection is made from the junior class on the basis of these qualities.

Through this honor society, the "monks" contribute various services to the school. Among its activities are entertaining visiting dignitaries and showing them around our illustrious campus. They choose the members to Key Club, honorary society for sophomore men, and also help organize campus sing.

• Sophomore Commission

Membership in Sophomore Commission is an honor received by those sophomore girls who were selected the previous spring to serve on Freshman Commission. The Commission gives a tea each fall for freshmen women to acquaint them with the various campus activities; but their biggest job comes with the plotting and overseeing of the activities for Freshman "Glamour" Week. Freshman-Sophomore Commission members are selected by the YWCA cabinet on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and potential service to the college.

• Mortar Board

One of the highest honors a college woman can receive is being selected for the Mortar Board. Such attributes as scholarship, personality, leadership, friendliness are qualifications for membership. The Mortar Board promotes faculty-student relationships by sponsoring coffee hours. Other activities consist of serving lunch after the Dads' Day game and heading the campus sing in collaboration with the Friars.

This year's officers are President, Nancy Nelson; Secretary, Jane Bergquist; and Treasurer, Gretchen Shirck.

• Adelphi

Foreground: N. Cragwall, H. Wilson, W. Means, M. Venn, J. Watkins, L. Gord, S. Armstrong, J. Cooke, R. Hegel, L. Carlson.

The main objective of the Adelphi Club is to seek out and help cultivate the creative talents of its members. They gather together twice a month and bring with them their respective manuscripts. The author reads aloud his poem, short story, play, or essay. After the reading, the manuscript is analyzed and suggestions are made to the author. By this method, good, wholesome criticism is given and all of the Adelphites have a better understanding of each other's creative problems.

Most members have contributed articles and stories to the Siwasher, the Student, or the GALE.

Delta Sigma Rho is a national honorary society which is made up of those who have distinguished themselves in intercollegiate debate. It sponsors the intramural debate which was won by Tau Kappa Epsilon for the fourth consecutive year.

This spring new members will be elected from the intercollegiate debate team which is arguing the current debate topic: Resolved: "The non-communist nations should form a new international organization." The debate squad also participated in a series of dual debates. Bud Nussbaum, president; Bob Miller, secretary; and Frank Janes, treasurer, directed the club's activities with the assistance of Dr. Lerche, faculty advisor.

• Student Council

President, Harry Thompson

A representative student group, the council extended its service this year by initiating the establishment of the honor system at Knox. They also succeeded in facilitating the methods of presidential elections by amending the constitution. Through the Midwest Conference, a program of fixed maximum rate of admission for competing schools in conference athletic events was achieved.

Harry Thompson's capable leadership made possible an extended social program which was offered to all students free of charge. Events sponsored by the council included the Pumphandle, Knox-Monmouth Dance, after game dances in Seymour Lounge, Homecoming, Commencement Dance, Flunk Day festivities and the popular square dances. Cooperating in making these successful were Jim Scott and Mary Goode, social chairmen; Walt Oswald, vice-president; Jeneinne Anderson, secretary; and Bill VanTrigt who, as treasurer, held the financial responsibility for the council's activities.

Journalism - - -

• Alpha Delta

Outstanding work in the field of journalism at Knox is recognized by membership in Alpha Delta. Each spring, upperclassmen who have done at least three quarters of commendable work on the STUDENT, SIWASHER, or GALE are selected by the Alpha Delta fraternity to become members.

Alpha Delta was founded as a national journalistic fraternity in 1929. Here at Knox the Eta chapter was installed three years ago, and John Lars Johnson, instructor in journalism, has served as faculty advisor for the group during that time. Peg Stouffer was president with Pat Kimble as vice-president, Bob Kensel as secretary, and Wayne Morehead as treasurer.

Sitting: L. Grand, M. Stouffer, J. Foster.
Standing: N. Roman, D. Mull.

• Board of Publications

Editors and business managers of the GALE, STUDENT, and SIWASHER are chosen by the Board of Publications. The selection is carefully made after considering each applicant's ability according to his experience, enthusiasm, and administrative capacity. Although this is their chief function and the reason for the formation of the board, it also solves general policy problems of the three student publications. The Board consists of three faculty members and four students, in addition to Dr. Umbeck, Dean Peake, and Dean Willhite, who are ex-officio members.

Sitting: C. Peake, S. Umbeck, S. Coleman, H. Wilson, J. L. Johnson, W. L. Willhite.
Standing: M. Stouffer, J. Foster, D. Mull, H. Thompson.

• The New Siwasher

The "new" SIWASHER can be added to the long list of successful innovations on the Knox campus. Under the direction of its board of editors, the SIWASHER was published three times this year and Knoxites eagerly awaited a glimpse of each unique cover following their encounter with the first surprise issue.

The new SIWASHER is being done in a definitely modern trend and in the words of the Editorial board,

"We have tried to include a range of material with enough variety to appeal to intellectuals, pseudo-intellectuals, imbeciles, morons, and normal, healthy minds with normal, healthy interests. It is our further endeavor to reflect as far as possible . . . the personality of not just a liberal arts student, but the personality of the entire Knox family—even in its most schizophrenic aspects."

• The Gale

Since 1888 the GALE has produced an annual serial of college highlights and the typical activities of the year. Although the yearbook's value to its owner increases with its age, each staff tries to represent only "their" Knox—the long-skirted Knox of '91, the military Knox of '17, or the athletic Knox of '35. Every year a new distinguishing emphasis appears whether it's the length of skirts or outlook on life, some things mount high in importance and others diminish. Naturally it is fascinating to look back at oneself and classmates by the fluctuating light of modern society.

Here is this year's episode in the perpetual serial, the second 1951 GALE. We hope the duplication won't confuse your future reminiscences, but the responsibility of producing the yearbook has been shifted from the junior to senior class. This, however, was only a nominal change. Significant innovations have been in the treatment of the activities and faculty sections and also the fraternity snapshots and verse. We have stressed informality throughout, and in a desperate effort to break one of the worst Siwash traditions and give you the GALE before vacation, we have used several shots representing activities and elections of the spring of 1950. Next year's editor, Eleanor Nichols, has agreed to carry on this overlapping policy to further the "GALE when you graduate" tradition.

This yearbook producing hasn't been easy, but it has been a group project—and a very good group. The new office has been a blessing. We've spent many active "GALE days" at the former King Cole's Bookstore, especially just before printer's deadlines, with Len slashing copy, Jackie creating, Don calling last minute pictures, Patty furiously beating her typewriter, Jeneinne snatching people off the street to identify some poor boy partially hidden behind the draperies, and finally the mad dash to the printer just before closing time.

And so after much effort and the completion of the gym, our chapter of the GALE is finished. Here is "our" Knox; the growing Knox of 1951.

• Photographers

"What, all these pictures this week?"
 "Yes, 'cause they all go in an early section."

Snatch of a typical GALE Office conversation. The constant planning for the big pictures, the endless arrangements for group shots, and most important the hours of skill and plain work in the shooting and developing—all parts of the paramount function of the GALE—memorable pictures of Knox.

That was our aim—to give you good pictures of your life at college. The serious representations gave Joe Bailey the opportunity to plan and execute some fine shots such as the divisionals. To record the frivolous activities Dick Neumiller called upon anyone with a camera and he and Joe created the fraternity snapshot sections. Davant Mull contributed his artistic ability too. Also he and his right hand man, Dick Kirkpatrick, took many of the organizations. They were a fine crew, and here is proof—the GALE.

• The Student

Interesting, informative, and up-to-the-minute, help to describe the '50-'51 KNOX STUDENT. Under the editorship of Pat Kimble, the student-published paper was anticipated each week for the latest in campus news and original features. Don Kowalski, as business manager, made the printing of the paper financially possible.

Helping Pat on the editorial staff were Nancy Roman, associate editor; Kent MacDougall, sports editor; Nancy Tucker, feature editor; Barbara Brunoehler, girls' sports; Lorraine Grand, office manager; and Davant Mull and Dick Kirkpatrick, photographers. Business Manager Kowalski was assisted by Bob Pownall, advertising manager, and Carl Cue, circulation manager. Besides the straight campus news and sports articles, Knoxites took a friendly interest in the variety of regular features printed in the STUDENT each week. Especially popular were Myrle Triege's column on Siwash social life; Joan Foster's "Siwash Traditions;" "Passing Thru," the column by Rosemary Marshall on senior leaders; Sam Hellinger's reporting on the Student Council news; JoAnn Casburn's "Pilfered Paragraphs" of exchange items; and Anita Albro's "Nox Pop," the question and answer column. During the fall students got a look "Inside Sports" from John Cibulka, and in the latter part of the year Phyllis Jaeschke interviewed faculty personalities for the STUDENT. New to the paper this year and of great interest to all were the "Little Man On Campus" cartoons by Bibler.

As an unsuppressed, unprejudiced view of Knox life, the '50-'51 STUDENT became an important and necessary part of the college. It also gave valuable experience to student writers and reporters interested in the field of journalism.

Under the leadership of Mr. LeFevre and Larry Stillwell, the religious discussion group at Knox meets every other Sunday evening to talk about different religious subjects and related topics. Their evening sessions also include lectures by guest speakers and various movies pertaining to the matters under discussion at the time. There is no strict membership to Chi Alpha Omega and any students who are interested may attend the meetings.

• Scabbard and Blade

The Knox chapter of Scabbard and Blade, D. Company, 5th Regiment is a chartered member of the National Chapter of the honorary Reserve Officers Training Corps Society. Ever since its establishment at Knox in 1923, possible membership has been an incentive for better and more wholehearted work in ROTC.

The purpose of Scabbard and Blade is primarily to raise the standard of military education in American colleges and universities. It also functions to bring their military departments into closer relationship, to encourage and foster the essential qualities of good and efficient officers, and to promote friendship and good fellowship among the cadet officers.

These honorary officers are important contributors to Knox's social program, as they sponsor the annual Military Ball, plus the water carnival on Flunk Day—which was an innovation last spring. Their pledging, of course, provided a whole week of entertainment for all, culminating in a hilarious broom stick race.

Cliff Van Dyke served as Captain, John Knezevich as 1st Lieutenant, Richard Flemming as 2nd Lieutenant, and John Dorward as 1st Sergeant.

On every other Thursday evening the Der Deutsche Verein holds its meetings "strictly" auf Deutsche. These meetings give German students a chance to use their knowledge of the language in actual surroundings. A variety of programs are given and include: German music concerts, slides, and informal discussions.

A Christmas Banquet and a spring picnic are annual affairs. Der Deutsche Spiegel is the club's official publication. Officers for the year were: George Folkers, president; Jerome Beam, vice-president; Fred Peterson, secretary; and Jacqueline Sachs, treasurer.

Those faculty and students who enjoy Spanish conversation have formed an informal club to insure this pleasure for one another. Their meetings are held once a month in the "Gizmo." At these get-togethers, during which they speak entirely in Spanish, the group plans such festivities as their unique Christmas party or Mexican Pinata.

Throughout the year, President Nancy Cragwall was assisted by Dee Goodrich and Charles Anderson.

Our first year the veterans were back on campus in full force—everyone was ready for a party. This year Knox lost a president and the Monmouth football game.

The sophomore and junior years, school was getting more conserva- tive—emphasis on scholarship. Freshman boys were high-school heroes instead of war heroes.

Our senior year and we're finally educated!! World crisis again—boys wait for draft notices and many become philosophers. Good year for athletics—we're co-cham- pions in football and the new gym is complete. At long last, spring quarter—our last and most im- portant. It's here—and gone! Next big party is Homecoming— as alums!

KNOX COLLEGE

Through its first century Knox has left a major impress on the literature, government, education, and, in fact, upon the general cultural pattern of the nation. Noted men by the score—John Huston Finley, Thomas W. Goodspeed, Ellen Browning Scripps, Eugene Field, Samuel S. McClure, John S. Phillips, and many others, have studied at Knox and then gone on to shape the future. That is why Knox is certain that its graduates of today will do much to carry on this outstanding record of achievement.
